INEZ

Hey. I'm Inez Crawford.

Inez is asked what she does for a living.

INEZ (CONT'D)

I work as a school teacher and on the weekends I bartend at one of the local clubs.

They mention that two jobs that is a lot.

INEZ (CONT'D)

I know. But we've got bills, two kids, and a husband.

Inez is asked what type of work her husband does. Inez drops her head, embarrassed by the question. She takes a deep sigh.

INEZ (CONT'D)

He's in between jobs right now. He was employed by his uncle for awhile, but then he passed he's really struggled with finding work.

(ashamed)

He's made some mistakes in the past.

Inez is asked what kind of mistakes.

INEZ (CONT'D)

He had some legal problems when he was younger. Because of them he's got a felony on his record. Most people see him as criminal even though he's already paid his debt to society... but he's a good man. A good husband and a great dad.

Inez is asked if she's ok dealing with a man who can't provide. The question cuts like a knife. Inez drops her head as she thoroughly thinks about the answer to the question.
